Mrs. Bella Arnold Francis.

The Senate intends to be represented at the peace conference. If it can't receive appointments, it means to tag along anyhow.

Fervent prayer is said to avail. Pray fervently then that you may not receive for Christmas a pair of purple socks or a yellow necktie.

Renew your magazines with me now, especially the Ladies Home Journal, Country Gentleman and the Saturday Evening Post.

When Johnny comes marching hence Susie will be waiting for him with her prettiest frock and her most winning smile and her best chocolate cake.

If the proposed international police fleet has the characteristics of a city police force, is it not likely to be pretty constantly stranded on the bar?

It is to be hoped that all the khaki colored articles in the shops will be sold before Christmas. By next Christmas there may be nothing for them to match.

Europe just now resembles one of those dissected pictures so popular a few years ago. It can be put together again, but to do so will require an indefinite degree of study and care.

The German statesmen are accusing each other of being partly responsible for the war. It is not the first time that the pot has made scathing remarks upon the color of the kettle.

It is to be hoped that after dispensing with Kaiserism the Germans will adopt a wiser plan. But we venture to doubt whether either Socialism or Bolshevism answers the description.

In Vienna, just before the armistice was concluded, shoes sold at from sixty dollars to ninety dollars a pair. A Vienna father could quote "Blessings on thee, barefoot boy", with genuine fervor.

Mr. Hugh Molloy, of Manchester, has accepted the position as bookkeeper at the National Bank and assumed his duties last Monday. He succeeds Mr. J. Lewis Hill, who resigned several weeks ago.

The citizens of Des Moines, Iowa, are obliged by the Board of Health to wear "flu" masks at all times except when within their own homes. The city must present the appearance of a grand masquerade.

Mrs. William Hohenzollern, coming to join her husband in Holland, brought him a supply of wines. It is not stated whether they were French wines, but they were evidently intended to relieve his spirits.

One part of the young woman's deprivation has been relieved. Sales of candy for Christmas are no longer restricted to one pound parcels. But what's the use? The young man to purchase the candy is not home yet.

Never hit a man when he is against a wall. You might miss the wall and hit him—more likely, you would miss him and hit the wall. But if you intend to get into the righteousness on the other side, why not prepare to hit the wall also.

Arm Broken.

Mr. Irvine Stapp is nursing a broken arm, caused by the kicking of his Ford car. The arm was broken near the wrist and is quite painful.

Breaks Leg.

The youngest son of Mr. E. C. Cheatham fell from one of the tier poles of his tobacco barn Tuesday and broke his leg. The little fellow is doing well although suffering quite a little.

Farm Sells Well.

The James Littrell farm of 73 acres on Poor Ridge pike was sold at auction, December 7th, by the Thomas Realty Agency, in three tracts ranging in price from $76 to $220 per acre. One buyer refusing a nice profit for his purchase before leaving the premises.

The Thomas Real Estate Agency has fast developed into one of the leading realtors and those wishing to buy or sell will make no mistake in consulting this agency.

Swinebroad Sells 'Em.

You can't keep a good man down very long and such is the case with G. H. Swinebroad the, Real Estate man, who was confined to his home for two weeks suffering with an attack of "flu". He is out now and offering the McGraw farm containing 150 acres in Boyle county for sale next Tuesday, December 17th. This sale was to have been sold two weeks ago, but on account of his recent illness the sale was postponed. Read his ad.

New Garage.

In this issue of the Record appears the announcement of the opening of the Central Garage, "Right on the Square" under the management of Mr. Russell Crumlin. This firm has leased the Arnold livery stable and have remodeled it throughout. The location of this garage is an ideal one and Bud Tankersley will be the head mechanic, whose work at all times can be relied upon and guaranteed. We bespeak for the new firm a prosperous business.

Why Quit?

The total production of the war-gardens was so enormous that it was hardly credible. It represented the effort of amateur farmers—backyard agriculturists who never did anything of the kind before and probably never will again.

But why shouldn't they? If we are capable of producing so gigantic a surplus of foodstuffs, why don't we go on producing it, or something equally necessary?

The same applies to all our war-time efforts. With similar standards of production and achievement maintained everybody in the country would have an automobile, a steam yacht and a summer home.

Dr. Gilbert Improving.

Letters to friends here have recently been received from Dr. J. S. Gilbert, conveying the glad news that he is rapidly improving and hopes to reach Lancaster by Christmas at the latest.

Dr. Gilbert was taken with influenza a few weeks after reaching Camp Sheridan, which soon developed into pneumonia of the right lung and pleurisy of the left side, the latter leaving him with pus in the cavity of the lung which ruptured and caused at one time his critical condition. Mrs. Gilbert and son, James Burnett, are with him and have been since the early stages of his illness.

All will be welcomed to their old Kentucky home and hope that the time will be not far distant.

Tobacco Market.

The tobacco market opened at Lexington last Tuesday, with prices that were satisfactory to the growers. About 200,000 pounds were sold on the first day at a general floor average of $28.38, the highest basket for the day bringing 63 cents a pound.

The second day sale, or that of yesterday averaged $31.29, the highest basket bringing 65 cents. Only two crops to our knowledge from Garrard were sold, one being 1200 pounds of Hughes Bros, that netted them 35 cents a pound and a crop of Linsey Clark, with 2300 pounds that averaged $37.50 net. It is thought by the warehousemen that the market will continue good throughout the season.

1,000 Barrel

Flowing Well.

Louisville, Ky. Dec. 11th, (by wire) Well Number 3, Butcher lease, in heart of Big Sinking district, which was estimated at only 400 barrels, flows 1,000 barrels in twenty-four hours, actual measurements.

Butcher, Number 4, flowing when only five feet in sand. This well flowed 10 feet over top of casing and is good for 750 barrels.

Waiting To Serve Families of Soldiers and Sailors.

The Home Service section of the Local Red Cross of which J. A. Benzley is chairman, is prepared to give help in the way of a loan of money to families of soldiers or sailors, in case of need of such assistance, caused by delay of allotment from the Government.

This is one purpose of the Red Cross and such families should not hesitate to call upon their own for the service they are waiting and willing to give. They want to serve you.

J. M. Metcalf

To Leave Us.

Mr. J. M. Metcalf, now of Lancaster, will soon become a citizen of the good town of Stanford. He has traded property at Paint Lick to W. S. Fish for his property, corner Logan avenue and Lancaster street, and will move to it in a short time. Mr. Metcalf and family will receive a warm welcome to the "best town on the map".—Interior Journal.

President Wilson and the Peace Conference.

President Wilson's trip abroad to attend the peace conference is a wise and appropriate undertaking. There are several reasons why he should be at hand.

In the first place, the German advances for peace have been made to him and presented to the Allies thru his agency.

In the second place, at the conference many questions will naturally come up which will be subject to marked differences of opinion. The Allies, necessarily harmonious in time of war, may disagree in regard to the terms of peace. President Wilson's authority and personality are likely to be a strong factor in composing any such differences. The fact that America has nothing to ask for herself will strengthen his position.

In the third place, though America seeks neither indemnity nor annexation of territory, she has a real and grave interest in many of the adjustments to be made. Who can handle these matters as well as Mr. Wilson? We applaud his decision to go.

Sugar Bowls

May Be Used.

TO ALL COUNTY FOOD ADMINISTRATORS.

Telegram received from Washington this morning removes the four pound per person per month restriction on purchase of sugar for householders and removes the public eating place restriction of the use of only four pounds of sugar to ninety meals.

This removal returns sugar to the normal and usual course of trade at a time that insures the free movement of sugar to our people for the Christmas holidays.

It follows that in hotels, etc., General Order No. 8 and 9 are discontinued and sugar bowls may be returned to the table. Sugar cards and records of retailers are discontinued.

Should sugar again become short by reason of the need of feeding Europe, the people will be called upon for strict limitations again. Every one should remember, however, that the Hoarding Section of the Food Act remains in full force and effect. FRED M. SACKETT, Federal Food Administrator for Ky.

Shelby County

Land Sales.

The Wakefield-Davis Realty Company of Shelbyville, whose advertisement appeared in our paper two weeks ago held a very successful sale of 543 acres for the W. L. Brown heirs in Shelby County.

Their ad appears again in this issue of another magnificent old blue-grass homestead consisting of 129 acres of as good land as there is in Shelby county. It is said to be the only home in the County that has been offered for sale that has natural gas connections which is supplied by a pipe line which runs through the place. If you want a place where you can live at home go look this one over.

The Company holding this sale are well known all over the State, having had sales in a great many of the Counties in Central Ky., and it is always known that whenever they put anything to sell, they sell it without reserve or by-bid and regardless of price.

Cement, Brick, Sand, Kanawha Salt. Hudson, Hughes and Farnau.

AMERICANS FIGHT GERMS IN ITALY

Tuberculosis Experts Sent by Red Cross Will Use Latest Methods.

Included in the unit of medical and lay workers which the American Red Cross has sent to Italy are a number of the leading anti-tuberculosis workers of the country, sponsored by the National Tuberculosis Association. Dr. William Charles White, who heads the unit, is medical director of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh, and Dr. Robert H. Bishop, the assistant director, is secretary of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Cleveland as well as health commissioner of that city. Dr. John H. Lowman of Cleveland, a former president of the National Association, is another prominent member of the unit. Others are Dr. Robert H. Patterson, secretary of the Ohio Tuberculosis Association; Seymour H. Stone, until recently secretary of the Massachusetts Anti-Tuberculosis League; Dr. Gertrude Sturgis, secretary of the New York City Association of Tuberculosis Clinics, and N. A. Nelson, superintendent of the Cincinnati Anti-Tuberculosis League.

These men and women, at the request of the Italian government, will cooperate with that country in applying the latest approved American methods for combating the spread of tuberculosis. Some of them will be charged with the establishment of clinics where people of all ages may be examined and treated; others will devote their attention particularly to preventing tuberculosis among children, and a third group will develop health publicity and education.

It is to the credit of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in America that it has produced specialists of such international standing that Italy wishes to call them into her service temporarily. But the campaign will be continued unrelentingly here at home. Its support during the ensuing year will be derived not as heretofore from the sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals, but by a special appropriation made by the Red Cross to the National Tuberculosis Association. Tuberculosis workers on their side will line up with the Red Cross in its Christmas Roll Call for universal membership.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. That being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs clean and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL HARTMAN OIL has been relieving the weaknesses and disabilities due to old age. It is a standard old-time remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL HARTMAN OIL is famous in countless bottles capsules containing about 15 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL HARTMAN OIL Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL HARTMAN OIL Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand, in sealed packages.

KHAKI COLUMN

The following letter from Private Owen Locker, a Garrard County boy who is in France doing his bit, was written to his wife, Mrs. Lizzie Locker, and will be read with interest by his many friends and relatives in the county.

"Machine Gun Co., 149 Infantry, American Expeditionary Forces." Dearest Wife:—

I will take the greatest of pleasure in writing you a few lines to let you know I arrived safely. I am well and seeing a good time. This is a pretty place. I like it fine, but you know I had rather be at home with you. Tell all the home folks hello for me. I think we will all soon be back home. Will close for this time hoping to get an early reply from you. As ever your loving husband, Private Owen Locker.

"Somewhere in France," Nov. 3rd, Mrs. Homer Humphrey:—

Dear wife: I will take much pleasure in answering your most kind and welcome letter I received a few days ago, was so glad to hear from you and to know you were well. I am well and feeling fine. You wanted to know why I had not written, I send you a letter every week, but probably they have gotten lost. I can't write much more than to tell you how I am getting along. I have written several letters since I reached here but have only gotten one. You wanted to know what about sending me a ring Xmas, it will be all right if you want to risk it. I sent a Red Cross slip some time ago so you could send me something if you wanted to. Well this is about all I have to write this time, so I will close, hoping to hear from you soon. With my best of love, I am ever your Loving Husband.

Private Homer Humphrey, Co. H., 22nd Engineers, via New York, American Ex. Forces.

The letter below has been received by Mr. and Mrs. James Dollins of R. R. 1, from their son, Corporal Jesse Dollins, who is doing "his bit" in France, and will be read with much interest.

"On active Service with the A. E. F." Dear Mother:—

I thought I would now take the time to write you all a few lines to let you know that I am as well as can be at the present and living over here just fine. So far the weather is very warm here. I guess it is getting pretty cold at home now. Well mother I didn't get a bit sick on the way over, but some of the boys sure did get some sick. Well how is everybody? Tell all of my friends hello for me.

I guess you got my card all right and I suppose you all were surprised about us being over here so soon, but I sure am now "Somewhere in France" and ready to get those Huns any time. I saw Leonard Hammons this morning and he is getting along just fine. I haven't seen any of the other boys that came over before I did. I sure would like to run across some of them about now. Well mama, I am not allowed to write much news so all that a man can tell is that he is well, and I don't want you to worry about me and I hope that this will find you all well at home. So I will close, maybe I can write more next time. So answer soon and tell me all of the news. Lots of love for Mother, Father, Sisters and Brother. My address is

Cpl. Jesse Dollins, Co. K., 149 Infantry, U. S. Army, American Ex. Forces.

"Somewhere in France,"

Dearest Mother, Father and all:—

I will sit down and write you a few lines as I have not heard from you since I have been over here. I suppose it was because you did not know my address. I like this country fine and also the people. We get plenty to eat and a good place to sleep and what more would a soldier want?

I sure did see some sights coming over here. It is quite different here than in the good old U. S. A.

I received a long letter from Lem

Mathews the other day that he had written me while in Camp Mills, N. Y. I certainly was pleased to hear from him. Mother I certainly did have a nice trip across the "pond". Had nice weather all the way, and the ship did not rock very much. Say I haven't heard from Rufus since I have been over here. I suppose he is still in Louisiana. I trust he has gotten well by this time. Lee and Mobley are still with me.

Tell aunt Liza and aunt Lennie to write me. How are Nora and Dollie? Tell them hello for me. Well I suppose this will be all I can write just now. Will write again soon. Trusting these few lines will find all the home folks in good health as it leaves me that way. Please do not forget to tell me all the news about the boys. I will close for this time. Answer real soon. Lots of love to Mother and the rest.

Your loving son,

Pvt. Will Adams,

M. G. Co., 156 Infantry, American Expeditionary Forces.

The letter below has been received from Private Ash Killion, who is "Somewhere in France", doing his bit, by his sister, Miss Lena Killion. He is a son of Mr. A. L. Killion, and is well known in the county where he has many friends.

"My Dear Sister:—

I will write you a few lines this beautiful Sunday morning in Sunny France. I am in my little 2-by-4 dog out, listening to the drizzling rain and watching the rest of the boys plow thro' the mud. I am feeling fine and enjoying life, and hope all at home are well. Sister, I sure wish you could see this country and watch them work on farms. They hitch a horse and cow to their plow, and the old lady leads the cow and the little boy the horse, while the men plow. The three do about as much work in five days as we do in one, but there are not many good crops in the places I have been in. About all you see is soldiers.

Guess you will be surprised to know I was at the Front once and it sure went fine with me. I heard a few of those so-called high explosive shells playing a grave yard waltz as they went buzzing by me.

An evening or so after I landed in France, we were taken to a little town so you know I was expecting a big time as I always am, as we didn't have much to do that evening. But I had just got there and of course had my eye on one of these beautiful little French girls when the bird that calls himself the Bulletin officer grabbed me and took me in a barn, and as I was feeling blue and it getting toward bedtime, I asked him where I was to sleep, and he said "just any where in there". Well I went to sleep and about 4 a. m. an old ewe comes in and licked me right in the face. I guess she had been to a party she was mourning on the door at this place. This barn had 30 men and 15 horses in it. Well I will close, hoping to hear from you soon.

As ever, Ash Killion.

Following is a letter received by Mrs. S. E. Hammack from Lieut. R. E. L. Murphy, who will be remembered in this county by many friends as the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Murphy, who for many years resided in this county. Mr. Murphy Sr. came to this county from Cork Ireland when a young man. He made a number of trips across the Atlantic, and lived in Virginia until after the Civil war, fought under Robert E. Lee, and then came to Garrard county and was married to Mrs. Lydia Boumount Donn, and lived in Garrard county until about 5 years ago when they moved to Lexington where Mr. Murphy died.

"At the Front in France," Nov. 2nd, Dear Mrs. Hammack:—

Am writing you a few lines from the front here in France. I have been in most of the American fighting here on the Front. Have had some very narrow escapes when flying and fighting with the Germans in the air. I had my machine put out of commission one day recently about ten miles behind the enemy lines and just managed to glide back to our side of the lines and landed.

I have lost some of my best friends over here. It makes you feel blue at times to see your comrades shot down, but we have given the Huns all they want. I have killed all I care for and am willing to come back to the good old U. S. A.

I had quite an experience to happen to me today. I found my half brother over here whom I had not seen since November 1898, nearly 20 years ago, when he visited us in the Flat woods. He has been here on the Front and I have been flying over him but did not know it.

The Germans are on the run and we will soon be home. With best regards to you, Yours Truly,

Lieut. Robert E. Lee Murphy,

20 U. S. Aero, Squadron, A. E. F.

The following interesting letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Herron, from their son, J. Sterling Herron, who is seeing service in France, with the Marines, and will be read eagerly by his numerous friends here.

"At the Hospital."

Dearest Mother:—

You have undoubtedly received the cablegram which the Red Cross lady promised to send you for me. I am doing well and still in the very best of spirits. Don't allow your imagination to run wild and to think of me as being badly shot up, for I am not, only slightly wounded. It happened on the morning of Nov. 1st, while "going over the top". I had advanced almost a half mile into the German lines when we encountered machine gun resistance and we were advancing to take them when I received my wound. A Red Cross man was right by me when it happened, and he dressed me up quickly—then some German prisoners, who were coming in fast, carried me over to the Field Hospital.

Mother, I am going to be a little more frank with you than usual in what I have been doing over here. First I think you should feel proud to know that I have been up against the "Heinies" on many occasions, and to have did my bit each time, then be so lucky as to draw a slight wound. You "of course" remember what I told you while at home about my returning from the service. Well its true, for victory will be ours in less than a month. I have lots to tell you when I return as I have seen lots and know quite a great deal about the war game, from actual experience.

My division has been cited on four occasions for its besting the Heinies. For it was my outfit which received credit from the French government for stopping the Germans at Chateau Thierry in June, thus saving Paris. This was one of the hardest fights staged during the whole war—known as the 2nd Battle of the Marne. However, the French called it the "Battle for Paris", adding of course a compliment to us. Will give you more news in a few days as I am anxious for this note to get mailed. Assure my friends that I will be O.

K. soon, and with much love, I am your loving son, "J".

The following letter was received by Mrs. Patsy Simpson from her son, Jesse A. Simpson, and will be very interesting to many of his friends and relatives in the county.

"League Island, aboard the Pennsylvania."

Dear Mother:—

I take the pleasure of writing you a few lines to let you know I am well and happy and hope it finds all the same. Well I got my order to be ready to sail in 36 hours, and it was sure good news to me as I am anxious to make the trip, as I like this one much better than when I started to Siberia, as I got a letter from one of my friends and he said it was the jumping off place of the world. You have heard talk of "Hog Island", I was there yesterday, and it sure has the right name, as they are sure hogish the way they are making ships.

Mother, where is Bailey? Two of my last letters were returned from him. I suppose he has crossed the "foam". I am sure you are glad to think you have a son of 17 years of age in service for the world freedom, and I sure think it a great honor for any boy to take a gun upon his shoulders and march beside his brother.

Well Bryan Gistineau and I are still together, as he is going over but don't know what Naval Base he is to go in. Hope we can stay together.

Well it looks as if I am going to be gone for quite a while from the looks of the clothes I had to get yesterday. Will tell you a few things I have: 2 blankets, 3 pairs of shoes, 1 pair of gum boots, 4 blue serge suits, 5 white ones, 2 watch caps, 4 white hats, 1 blue hat, 12 pair of yarn socks, 4 suits of heavy underwear, 2 neckerchiefs, 1 dozen handkerchiefs, 2 pairs of yarn gloves, 2 sweaters, and 1 hammock, but am going to try and give it away and sleep on the deck. I sometimes think the ship has hit mine as the 6-foot falls don't suit me, but I suppose I will get used to them. I am just about to forget to tell you about my soap store, 8 bars of salt soap and two good scrub brushes, and I am the sailor that can use them as it would not do to give them away, as the skipper would soon tell you that the suit needs a drink, that sure takes all the joy out of life.

Give my best love to all and good luck to all, I am sure coming back to the "Land of the Free and the Home of the Brave". Will write you as soon as I get in port as it may be some time. I have to bring this to a close as I have lots to do. I could tell you lots if I could see you. With a ship load of love and not a submarine in sight. Your loving son,

Jesse A. Simpson.

Renewed Testimony.

No one in Lancaster who suffers backache, headaches, or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Lancaster man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Lancaster resident can doubt.

W. C. Davis, tailor, Public Square, says: "Some time ago my kidneys were in bad condition. I suffered with pains across my back and thru my loins. My kidneys were irregular in action and I had to get up many times at night to pass the kidney secretions. I had considerable stooping over to do and I became easily tired and languid. Doan's Kidney Pills brought relief and I think they are a fine kidney medicine." (Statement given April 22, 1912.)

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S.

On November 17, 1916, Mr. Davis said: "I am always glad to say a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills. When I have any symptoms of kidney trouble, Doan's Kidney Pills are sure to give me relief."

Making Good.

Large employers of labor throughout the country have announced that those who left their service to go to war did so with the assurance that their positions would be open on their return. They have declared that they are now ready to redeem their pledge.

It is creditable that the employers have risen above frequent commercial practice in the matter of these promises. Business sense often countenances the neglect of an obligation until the party interested brings it obtrusively to the attention of the party liable. But in this country we can rise to higher ideals when the inspiration is forthcoming. It is a pity that our inspired moments cannot be made continuous.

In this case the employers will probably get the thick end of the deal. The returning workers will in nearly all cases be more valuable now than when they went away. They have healthier bodies, a broader vision, stiffened will-power, greater self-control and a sterner sense of responsibility.

Stop Indigestion With Vin Hepatica.

You don't have to suffer from a sour stomach, or a heaviness in your chest or stomach after every meal you eat.

That's indigestion. Stop it with Vin Hepatica before more serious complications arise.

Come in and get a bottle and take plenty of it. It goes right to the seat of the trouble at once. It is nature's own prescription for the relief of indigestion and other disorders of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels.

R. E. McROBERTS, Druggist, Lancaster, Ky.

Christmas Red Cross Roll Call.

MacKenzie R. Todd of Frankfort, a man of wide acquaintance and large experience in handling such campaigns, who was selected to manage the Kentucky Division of the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call, and who has offices on the tenth floor of the Columbia Building, Louisville, is already getting the work in shape, determined to secure at least a million members in the State. To assist him in the great work the chapters of the Red Cross are appealed to and a manager has been selected in each of the one hundred and twenty counties, whose duty it will be to organize their localities and see that every one is given the opportunity to become a member of humanity's greatest cause. The plan is to sell memberships at $1, the amount to go toward the support of the work at home and abroad. Each member will be given a button which will be a badge of honor, a service flag and a dozen Christmas seals, the sale of the seals being discontinued for the season. The week of December 16-23 has been selected for the final drive for universal membership in the organization to which the world owes so much and to which it is not only a duty to belong but the highest privilege. Let it be remembered that the campaign is not for money but memberships and that every person is urged to enroll.

DARTING, PIERCING SCIATIC PAINS

Give way before the penetrating effects of Sloan's Liniment

So do those rheumatic twinges and the lacerations of lumbago, the nerve-inflammation of neuritis, the wry neck, the joint wrench, the ligament sprain, the muscle strain, and the throbbing bruise.

The ease of applying, the quickness of relief, the positive results, the cleanliness, and the economy of Sloan's Liniment make it universally preferred.

It's Thumbs Down!

So far as America is concerned it is thumbs down for Germany until the peace conference has finally decided her fate.

Germany's friends in America must be made to realize this.

For already the German propagandists are getting busy in her behalf. Now that the armistice has been signed, the war to all intents and purposes ended, they are talking sympathetically of the stricken fatherland.

Trying to sway public opinion in her behalf.

And it must be stopped.

Germany halted at nothing in her mad raid upon Europe. Every principle of humanity was tossed into the discard. No cruelty, no outrage, no form of destruction and devastation was too drastic. And in her methods of warfare she set a pace that horrified all civilization.

And finally, when she was all in, beaten to a standstill, and whipped beyond hope of recovery, she came to us with bloody hands up.

Pleading for mercy!

It wasn't America's war. Of all the nations involved America suffered the least. The appalling blood cost fell most heavily upon Europe. And the German fate will in the finality be decided at the European hands.

Germany knows this. Knows that she can hope for little mercy at European hands. But she is counting largely upon the influence of sympathetic American public opinion.

But more she is counting upon her friends here to arouse that sympathy. Right now the American duty is to block this propaganda.

To keep hands off and let Germany face her fate.

Every active German sympathizer found pleading the German cause should be reported to the federal authorities instantly.

With America it's thumbs down.

Present Price $2.00 Per Share
Par Value $1.00 Per Share

The money raised from the sale of this stock will continue to be used, as it has been used in the past, in the development and expansion of the company's properties. Over $825,000.00 of capital raised from the sale of stock has been invested in properties and equipment in the twelve months of the company's existence. Its outstanding position today as the leader among the independent oil companies operating in Kentucky may be ascribed to following this policy of expansion. Results accomplished to date are but a forerunner of those which may be expected to ensue from the further development of the company's concededly valuable holdings, and expansion in the field of its operations through increasing the size of its refining plant, now operating, and the purchase of additional producing properties. In view of progress to date "McCombs" stock at $2.00 per share is an extremely attractive investment opportunity with the probabilities of unlimited enhancement in value.

Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy is Better and Better Than Calomel. Cleans Out System Without Cramping. Stays Sick Headache. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain relief or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the points of origin of digestive trouble and its removal. It is a powerful action on all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts fast and thoroughly, yet is so mild and gentle that there is no danger of violent griping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is improved, vitality is increased and the waste system is regulated.

Do you get your body in this condition? You need a little NR Tablets every day—just take one NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, flatulence and constipation threaten, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Get a box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. It is sold everywhere and recommended by your doctor.

Energy

THE WORK OF THE KIDNEYS is to filter and cast out waste products and poisons from the blood stream. When the kidneys are overworked, weak or diseased, the waste matter remains in the system and causes pain in side or back, rheumatism, lumbago, stiffness of joints, sore muscles and other symptoms.

When a person's kidneys are out of order, there is lack of energy, force, vigor, and general effectiveness. Kidneys and bladder must properly function for anyone to enjoy good health.

DANVILLE, KENTUCKY.

Those who wish may bring their Tobacco in, and if desired, receive a liberal advance on same.

We wish to thank the Growers for their liberal assurance to sell with us, and promise in return the best prices obtainable for their crops.

Be on the Lookout and Watch for the NEW FIRM.

FENNER & PITT

To The Tobacco Growers Of Madison, Garrard and Adjoining Counties:

As our policy has always been to look after the interest of the growers, and get them the high dollar for their tobacco, we have been unable to announce our opening sale, on account of the influenza prevalent in the South. We were however, advised by the big tobacco purchasing companies that as soon as they get buyers to the Lexington market, we would have them here on the same day.

Remember the HOME HOUSE has never speculated in one pound of tobacco. We do a strictly commission business. We are for the grower first, last and all the time.

We have doubled our floor space and can now unload your tobacco the same day you come. We also have two of the largest buyers prizing on our floors.

We will announce our opening date as soon as the big companies can get through in the South. Don't be misled into taking your tobacco to a market where it will be sacrificed. For we know we will have buyers on the same day that Lexington or any other market in the state.

Hoping that none of the growers will be misled about the opening, or in thinking they will have a market at Lexington, or some other point, before ours, we remain,

Very truly yours,

THE HOME HOUSE,

By W. E. LUXON and I. M. HUME.

RICHMOND, KENTUCKY.

For The Next Year.

The crops raised in the passing year in this County are all now about harvested. The season has been generally favorable and the yields have been satisfactory. Prices have been high and farmers have been successful in their business undertakings. The thrifty and wide-awake farmer, if not completed his plans he will have arrangements made for next year. There are some facts of which he can be assured that may stimulate him in doing bigger things. The first, the most important, is that labor will be more available, in fact, plentiful, as we see it. We are assured that a large per cent. of the boys will be released from the camps in time to help even in the planting of the next crops. This will enable the production of them much easier and with less uncertainty of necessary help.

Again, the world store houses of food are practically empty. In all Europe, we are told, that they are down to the bed rock, in fact so low that many millions of the world's population are now starving and with the utmost effort of those countries who have food to spare millions of these human beings will perish from the lack of the necessities of life before another crop can be produced or reach them. It matters not how large the production it necessarily follows that it will not create a surplus. Prices of the next crops will be high under any conditions. The farmer has the opportunity of all times to receive an adequate recompense for his best efforts in production, and at the same time save the starving millions of humanity who are looking to the American farmer for salvation. Let the farmers of Garrard County be up and doing for next year. This is their golden opportunity. Perhaps they will never have again the chances afforded in the year 1919.

"Victory Girls", Go Over the Top.

The first division of the United War Work Campaign to go "over the top" is the Victory Girls, reaching their quota of $810.

Girls, I am proud of you. It has been a pleasure to work with you in this Campaign. Your ready response to service for your country speaks a future citizenship of true patriotism.

You now stand first in pledging full quota; keep up the record, and let stand first in payment of full quota.

Your pledge cards remain in your teachers hands till fully paid, so get busy and earn your money, and send it off on its mission of cheer and comfort to our boys "over there".

Mrs. J. A. Amon,
County Chairman.

The Red Cross Drive Is Now Humming.

The drive for the Red Cross Christmas Roll Call begins Monday Dec. 16th, and will continue throughout the week. During this week we hope and expect to enroll every man, woman and child in Garrard county. This is to be a universal Roll Call. We have completed our various organizations and appointed committees to solicit all the people.

You are supposed to take out a membership, one dollar each, for every member of the family. You are urged to take out, if possible, more than a membership for each one in your family to offset those who are not able to take their part. When you renew your membership, you will receive a service flag for the window with a star in it to represent the number in family and also the number, if any, in the Army or the Navy.

The plan of the Campaign is similar to that of last Christmas. We will have for headquarters the Woman's Club room on Lexington street. This Roll Call is supposed to be, as far as possible, voluntary on the part of the people. During the Roll Call week, you are supposed to come to headquarters and renew your membership or take out a new membership. I will be at headquarters every day to wait upon the people. Or, in my absence, my assistants will be there.

While the War is ended, the need for the Red Cross is as urgent as ever. A large per cent. of our troops in France will remain there during the winter. Their needs and comforts must be supplied by the Red Cross. The incentive to give now is greater than ever because we see the end in view. This, in all probability, will be the last Christmas Roll Call we will be called upon to finance. But as long as the boys remain in France, it is our duty to give them every aid and comfort we can. Do not wait to be solicited by some one, but come to headquarters and voluntarily renew or take out new memberships.

W. A. WHEELER, Manager
Christmas Roll Call.

The D. A. Thomas Agency.

"The Service Agency."

Will INSURE your property, will buy or sell your property, will loan you money on your farm on that NEW 10 to 20 year plan.

Will issue you a life policy.

Will go on your BOND as Admr., Trustee or Guardian up to $50,000 on a minute's notice.

The Christmas Holiday

Christmas is the only one of our holidays the observance of which is based upon love and thoughtfulness for other people than our individual selves. Other holidays are for the most part, as is fitting, in recognition of a great national event or in memory of those who have done and suffered great things for their country. Thanksgiving expresses gratitude for our blessings, and New Year's, if we keep it with thoughtfulness, is an occasion for a little self-examination and some fresh resolves.

But Christmas is rightly a day of generosity and love.

We make the children happy with toys and candies, we think of the gift which will please mother, wife, sister, husband, we plan pleasant home entertainments. But Christmas lacks something if our observance of it is bounded by our family circle and our friends.

The festival will be an especially joyous one for America this year. The shadow of a great and cruel war has been lifted from us. We look forward to an era of peace and prosperity.

But at the same time there has never been a year when generosity was more needed. Prices of all commodities are appallingly high, and the little income of many a family has been sadly diminished by the absence of one or more of its wage earners in the army. If we consider this and, not forgetting our own dear ones, do what we can to bring relief and pleasure to those in need, we shall indeed feel the blessedness of a real Christmas. As we have been prospered, so let us give.

Young.

Mr. Abner Young aged 69 years, died suddenly at the home of his son, Arthur Young, who lives on the Fall Lick pike, Sunday November 24th. While not in his usual robust health, he was not thought that he was seriously ill and when he was found dead near a spring on the place, it came as a great shock to his family and friends.

He was a member of the Christian church and had lived in Lincoln county most of his life and for nearly forty years was an elder in the church. He is survived by his wife and eight children all of whom are married.

He was buried at Mt. Moriah cemetery, the services being conducted by Rev. J. R. Moorman.

Pollard.

Mr. Lee Pollard, son of James Pollard, who lives near Hubble died last Saturday evening of tuberculosis, aged thirty-one years.

He enlisted in the U. S. army early in the war as a volunteer and was assigned to the First Kentucky, but owing to ill health he was invalided home nearly a year ago and since that time his health has failed him rapidly. He was a perfect specimen of manhood when he enlisted but the dread disease soon caused his final end. He was an exceptional fine young man, being a member of the Christian church at Hubble. Funeral services were conducted at the grave in the Lancaster cemetery last Monday afternoon by Rev. J. R. Moorman, where the interment took place.

Attention! Victory Boys and Girls.

Will be at Curry's Store, Friday afternoon to receive full and partial payments on pledges to the United War Work Fund.

Mrs. Theo Curry, Chm. Lan. Dist.

Brown.

Ruth, the little 5 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Brown, died at their home in Maryville Tenn. Wednesday, December 4th, of membranous croup.

The little one was ill only a few days, and during that time all that could be done by loving friends was of no avail, and at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, her spirit returned to the God who gave it.

The remains were brought here to their former home, Friday morning, and at 2:30 o'clock that afternoon were laid to rest in the Lancaster cemetery after short services at the grave.

Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved parents in the loss of their little daughter.

Hughes.

Mr. L. B. Hughes, known by many in this and adjoining counties as "Sonnie" died at the City Hospital, in Lexington, last Friday evening living only a few hours after he was found in an unconscious condition near Lexington on the Richmond pike.

He was a brother of the late Abner Hughes of this county and is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Kate Aldridge, of this city, and James Covert and Mrs. Rice Hurnside of Danville. He also leaves a number of nephews and nieces in this county.

He was a devout member of the Christian church, his membership being at Pleasant Grove, where for a number of years he was the Superintendent of the Sunday School.

After funeral services last Sunday afternoon, by Rev. J. R. Moorman, his remains were interred in the Fork Church cemetery.

Gone Home.

This is a very appropriate heading for a sketch of the life of Mrs. Fannie Carpenter Williams whose kind and loving spirit winged its flight from this earthly home last Tuesday morning. Her death was primarily due to influenza, though other complications set up, which hastened the end. At the time of her death she was thirty years old. Seven years ago she was united in marriage to Mr. Pendleton Williams, to this happy union, three children were born and their tender years make her death doubly sad. She was in every sense of the word a home keeper, "looking well to the ways of her household".

Of this unusually good woman volumes might be written, but we sum it all up by saying that in her early youth she gave her heart to God, never forgetting her obligation to Him, but day by day honored Him, by being the daughter, wife, mother and sister. He would have her be.

Beside her devoted and heartbroken husband and three young children, where the blow falls heaviest, Mrs. Williams is survived by her father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Carpenter, of Preachersville and five sisters, Mrs. Ollie Carpenter, of this place, Mrs. Tom Howard, Mrs. J. W. Aker, Mrs. Roscoe Collier and Mrs. Robert White and two brothers, Messrs Quincey and Woods Carpenter.

Rev. H. S. Hudson conducted the funeral services yesterday afternoon after which the interment took place in the Lancaster cemetery.

The Record joins the host of friends of this family in extending sympathy.

To the Health Officials, Physicians and People:—

Early in October, before the full import of the danger from influenza was grasped by the people, and well in advance of such action in most other states, churches, schools and all other places of public assembly were rigidly closed, and, with the aid of the public press, the State was flooded with warning and advisory literature, with the result that, in spite of the hardships inseparable from such drastic measures vitally affecting the most treasured customs and privileges of every community and home, there was such universal and helpful co-operation from the clergy, the teachers, women's clubs and the rank and file of the people, as to greatly restrict the spread of the disease, except in certain mining and other sections and homes where the housing conditions made it impossible to secure proper ventilation and prevent over-crowding, associated, as such conditions always are, with lack of nourishment, nursing and medical attention, and with the high death rate incident to any kind of sickness of people so situated.

In response to the urgent calls of distress, mainly from such sections, within four weeks this board, the U. S. Public Health Service, the Kentucky Red Cross and the State Council of Defense, meeting weekly, and utilizing their respective auxiliary organizations in every county and community in collecting information and extending help, 96 physicians and 215 nurses and Sisters of Charity were sent to do relief work, often under difficulties and living conditions easier to imagine than describe. Except in such sections and in some of the wealthiest counties, where short-sighted, niggardly Fiscal Courts have always forced doctors to carry on health work at their own expense, or leave it undone, the epidemic was soon under such measurable control that it was thought safe to remove or greatly liberalize the quarantine restrictions from the jurisdictions first attacked which had good health organizations, until this has now been done in nearly all cities and in about two thirds of the counties.

Everything went well for a few days when, following the peace celebrations and similar festivities, during which all precautions and safeguards were thrown to the winds, a notable increase of new cases, fortunately of a milder type, was reported almost everywhere, until in many counties the disease again assumed such an epidemic form that demands were constantly received for a renewal of the restrictions, the local authorities often imposing them without waiting for advice. Except in a few instances this Board has insisted that, as the more violent and fatal stage of this epidemic has passed, individual cases and families be more rigidly isolated than in the past without again closing churches and schools and the ministers, teachers, the press, and all other leaders of public opinion be enlisted in the education of the people in the recognized methods of its prevention, and especially about staying away from crowds and places where it is likely to exist.

Within the last few days such insistent representations came in from Louisville that the disease had again reached such epidemic proportions as to require action by this Board, its officers on last Wednesday afternoon called a conference of leading general practitioners of that city in order to get reliable, first-hand information. It was the unanimous opinion of these gentlemen that, while the disease was far milder and, differed from the earlier stage of the epidemic in that it attacked children more frequently than adults, it was far more prevalent and widely distributed than at any previous time, and without a dissenting voice they recommended that all restrictions be re-imposed, several of them asserting that they were advising all families under their care to keep the children out of school and that both the children and parents stay away from all public gatherings until the danger was over.

Immediately upon the simultaneous perfection of the vaccine for the prevention of Influenza and its fatal complications, by the laboratories of the Rockefeller Institute, the Mayo Clinic and several private manufacturers, a few weeks ago, and its approval by the Surgeon General of the Army and other proper authorities, this Board began earnest effort to secure it in quantities but, on account of preference being properly given to the urgent needs of the Army and other branches of the public service, only small supplies could then be obtained for use in a few highly infected districts and families. While this conference with the Louisville physicians was being held a wire was received from Dr. Rosenow, Director of the Mayo Laboratories, at Rochester, Minnesota, that 10,000 doses of the vaccine had been sent to the Board and that 100,000 more would follow as needed, for free distribution to all health officials and physicians who would keep and return to this Board for tabulation the records and results of all inoculations.

With these generous supplies of vaccine in its possession and with a strong and active Health Department and excellent public spirited profession, to administer it, even in the light of grave conditions revealed by the conference, it was decided, for the present at least, to place supplies of vaccine in the hands of all health officials of the State for their own use, and for distribution to physicians who will keep and return the record of cases, and to ask the City Health Department of Louisville, and of other cities so far as practicable, to open one or more Free Clinics for the free inoculation of the indigent, placing a very liberal construction upon this term.

Recognizing that picture shows, ten cent stores and department stores during special sales and other hours of congestion, are constant sources of danger in an epidemic like this, these and all similar places were recommended to the special care of the boards of health of all cities, with authority, even to the point of closing, to impose any restrictions necessary to protect the public health, and it is especially recommended that during the period of this epidemic all children under sixteen years of age should be rigidly excluded from picture shows.

In general the Board advises during this epidemic that you:

1. Keep away from all crowds of all kinds.
2. Keep out of the sick room and away from houses with sickness, unless your services are needed. Keep clean and wear a mask if you do go.
3. Walk to your place of business if possible—avoid crowded cars.
4. Cover your cough or sneeze and keep away from people who do not.
5. Keep away from dirty eating and soft drink houses.
6. Open your windows at night, adding extra bedding if necessary.
7. Call a physician if you or your family show any signs of sickness.
8. After influenza, stay in bed until your doctor advises you to get up.
9. Do not handle anything from the sick room until it has been boiled.
10. Have and do little visiting until this epidemic is over.
11. Cordially cooperate with your Health Officer and Physician in preventing the spread of Influenza.

By order of the Board.
JOHN G. SOUTH, M. D., President.
J. N. McCormack, M. D., Secretary.

The Cause of the Spirit of Hatred In Germany

We have known the Germans who have settled among us as a kindly, patient, enterprising and inoffensive people. Such also was the estimate which most nations had formed of the German race. The atrocities which Germany committed in the war—its relapse into the cruelties of barbarism—have been the marvel of the world—impossible of belief until proved by unimpeachable testimony. The original cause of these cruelties was the spirit of hatred which the German government instilled into the army. In the early days of the war the author of the "Hymn of Hate", a rancorous and bitter poem directed against England, was decorated by the government, and the verses themselves were sung with acclaim throughout the army. The same spirit was shown when the German government struck a medal commemorating the destruction of the "Lusitania".

The evidence of hatred has been notably absent from the French armies. France has suffered more cruelty from the war than any other of the allied nations, but we read that her soldiers as a rule have showed much kindness toward German prisoners. We trust that our young men will hold the same humanity in their hearts—that as our president has always done, they will discriminate carefully between the cruel and autocratic German government and the misled people who obeyed and trusted it.

We shall look for our boys to come home with just indignation, indeed, toward the German war-time excesses and cruelties, but with only sympathy in their hearts for the German civilian and peasant classes, who have suffered much in the years of war.

Make This A Red Cross Christmas.

America's second war-time Christmas is almost here. Our thoughts, our interests, our hearts are not in the trivial things now—they are with the boys in France, and our war-tired Allies.

Their thoughts, their interests, their hopes are in the Red Cross and we know (but it is ever present and ready to lend them aid most needed).

Let our Christmas message to those loved ones be that we stand solidly behind the American Red Cross—that there is full membership in every American home. No other word we can send will give them greater encouragement, or fortitude for that which must be accomplished.

WHY YOU SHOULD JOIN.
"The War is over—why should I join?" This is the question that will be most frequently asked. The reply. Every adult should join at the Christmas Roll Call because—though the War is over, suffering is not. 2,000,000 of our boys "over there" still look to the Red Cross for countless winter comforts and relief in sickness. On Christmas Day they will hear how many "folks back home" answered the Roll Call. A dollar to the Red Cross is your Merry Christmas to them.

190,000 of our men have been wounded fighting for you and for me. Your dollar eases the pain of thousands of crippled men.

500,000 sailors know the Red Cross is ready to aid them at any port. Those brave lads of the sea deserve your Red Cross dollar.

1,000,000 of our boys will be in camps for months to come. They were ready. Is your dollar, too?

Thousands of poor orphan kiddies in France, Belgium, Serbia, Roumania, Armenia and Palestine would lie of hunger and cold this winter but for the American Red Cross. No dollar gift could possibly do greater good.

To aid our stricken Allies; to care for our suffering soldier families; to fight the deadly tuberculosis; to— but one needs no longer list. All you need is a heart and a dollar.

Civilization, stunned and bleeding—but still free—faces the mightiest task in history. The Red Cross is a vital part of America's life. As the Army and the Navy are the will of the Nation mobilized for Victory; so is the Red Cross the soul of the Nation mobilized for Service. The Red Cross must and will carry on. Your Roll Call task is a noble one. Carry on! Save this ship!

W. A. Wheeler, Manager,
Christmas Roll Call.

Aleppo Once of Importance.
In ancient days Aleppo was a link on the great trade trail between India, the regions along the Tigris and Euphrates, and the Mediterranean. Although it has lost much of its commercial importance, it still sends to Alexandria the products of Mesopotamia and Bagdad.

Everything All Right.
Nellie was happily anticipating Santa Claus' visit. It was Christmas eve, and raining furiously. A friend happened in and said: "Santa Claus can't come tonight because it is raining." Nellie thought seriously a moment and said: "Oh, yes he can; he has his reindeers."

FARM ANIMALS

RAISING WELL-BRED SWINE

Return Money Invested More Quickly Than Any Other Farm Animals Except Poultry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

No branch of live stock farming gives better results than the raising of well-bred swine when conducted with a reasonable amount of intelligence. The hog is one of the most important animals to raise on the farm, either for meat or for profit, and no farm is complete unless some hogs are kept to aid in the modern method of farming. The farmers of the South and West, awakening to the merits of the hog, are rapidly increasing their output of pork and their bank accounts. The hog requires less labor, less equipment, less capital, and makes greater gains per hundred pounds of concentrates than any other farm animal, and reproduces himself faster and in greater numbers; and returns the money invested more quickly than any other farm animal except poultry.

In the trucking and mixed-farming sections of the United States hogs are used to consume various unmarketable substances. The value of milk is known on every farm although it may not be fully appreciated, and any one who has fed pigs knows the keen appetite they have for milk and its products. In the neighborhood of many large dairies pork production has become a very prominent and lucrative supplement to the dairy industry. The hog is also a large factor in cheapening the production of beef. Hogs are placed in the cattle feed lots to utilize the corn and other feeds which the cattle have failed to digest and which otherwise would be wasted. Hogs following steers in many cases have increased the profit per steer by $6 to $8. Farmers and hotel and restaurant owners are using lard from refuse to produce salable pork. In fact, as a consumer of by-products the hog has no rival.

However, this propensity in many instances is being taken unfair advantage of through ignorance and lack of care. Milk products, animal offal, etc., which contain disease germs, especially those of tuberculosis, are given to hogs. This practice not only results in spreading disease but causes loss in the hogs themselves through condemnation at slaughter. All such products should be effectively sterilized before being fed.

FEEDING NEW CORN TO STOCK

Not Safe for Hogs and Mules—Liable to Produce Disorders—Give Hogs Minerals.

New corn is not a safe grain for work horses and mules, as it is liable to produce colic and indigestion. If it must be fed, feed only the dryest ears, not more than four or six ears at each meal. A small quantity of salt should be sprinkled on each feed. A better and safer method is to feed half corn and half oats.

If green corn is fed to hogs, the safest plan is to feed the entire stalks with the ears on the stalks. Feed small quantities at each meal; spread the corn out in the feed lot so that each one will get its full share.

Keep a full supply of wood and coal ashes, burnt wood and corn-cob charcoal under cover in the feeding pens, so the hogs can help themselves. These minerals are useful in correcting the acidity of the green fodder and corn.

VALUE OF ACRE OF ALFALFA

Result of Interesting Experiment Conducted on Kansas Agricultural College Farm.

Experiments conducted on the Kansas agricultural college farm have shown that 170 pounds of green alfalfa, cut and fed in a dry lot, was equal to 100 pounds of corn. Six pounds of corn was necessary to produce a pound of pork, so the 170 pounds of alfalfa produced 162-3 pounds of pork. Estimating that during the season an acre of alfalfa will yield 20,000 pounds of green hay, this, if cut and fed green with corn, would make 2,000 pounds of pork. Figuring this pork at the prevailing price will give some idea of the value of an acre of alfalfa.

If you need some Christmas cash, we will make a liberal advance upon tobacco when same has been weighed up and placed upon the floor.

Since the close of last season we have added a new fire-proof addition to our sales floor, which adds fifty per cent to the selling space we now have for quick handling of a largely increased amount of loose leaf tobacco. We now have over an acre of space under our roofs, much the largest house south of the Kentucky River—also the best in light and barn conveniences.

Our motto will be, "Over the Top and a Square Deal." The same hearty hand-shake and a Kentucky welcome awaits you, as it always has, at the Old Peoples.

CARGO OF SUPPLIES GOES TO ARCHANGEL

Red Cross Sends Relief Ships for Allied Soldiers and Civilians in Starving Russia.

A relief ship was recently sent from this country to Archangel by the American Red Cross with 4,000 tons of drugs, food, soap and other supplies for the use of the Allied soldiers and needy civilians in that part of Russia. The vessel's cargo was valued at $1,511,232.

Later, another ship was dispatched carrying 200 tons of similar supplies furnished by the American Red Cross, the total expenditure for the two shipments amounting to over $2,000,000.

Major F. T. Williams of Baltimore was in charge of the party of thirteen which accompanied the shipment from this country. He was formerly a member of the Red Cross Commission for Russia. Major Kirkpatrick, at one time a member of the latter commission, but recently attached to the Army Medical Corps, heads the medical end of the Archangel expedition. Drugs and general hospital supplies constituted the greater part of the cargo sent from America.

While the chief concern of the expedition was providing comforts for American and Allied fighting men in that part of the world, all efforts were bent to get relief to the Russian soldiers who were returning from German prison camps at the rate of about 15,000 a week. The condition of these men was pitiable. It has been estimated that 50 per cent. of them were tubercular.

In addition to drugs and food, almost every imaginable article on the list of supplies sent over was for the comfort, convenience and pleasure of the Allied soldiers. Just a few of these articles were playing cards, razor blades, jewelry, mandolins, accordeons, ukuleles, phonographs, cameras, skates, wigs, whisks, grease palms, footballs, snowshoes, slippers, hockey outfits, indoor baseballs, moving picture outfits, Bibles, prayer books, boxing gloves, games, music, books, cigarettes, candy and dried fruits.

The need of prompt relief for the inhabitants of towns along the coast of the White Sea and on the Kola peninsula, many of whom were facing starvation, was found to be imperative. Scurvy had broken out among the people at these places, adding to the general distress.

The towns to which the relief expedition was sent are virtually isolated from the outside world because of the treacherous coast line, shifting sand bars and uncharted waters. An exceptionally early frost, even for that part of the world, ruined the harvests, which were expected to improve conditions. Statements, printed in Russian, explaining the work of the Red Cross, were distributed among the inhabitants.

TRIBUTES FROM SECRETARY BAKER

Following a tour of South England, Secretary of War Baker made this comment on the work done by the American Red Cross for our boys:

"These are the things which count. The American Red Cross, is to be congratulated on the way in which it is looking after our boys. It is doing fine work."

Following his return from France, Secretary Baker wrote this note to the American Red Cross in London:

"I left London so shortly after my drive to Winchester that I had no early opportunity to thank you for the courtesy of the touring car which you placed at my disposal for the trip. On this trip to Europe I have received fresh and noteworthy evidence of the astonishing efficiency of the American Red Cross operations in France and England. I have been delighted to see how much the American Red Cross has done to weld hearts of the allied people together."

Replacing the Orchards.
The American Red Cross has given $10,000 to assist in the replanting of trees in the orchards laid bare by the Germans. With this sum 40,000 fruit trees will be replaced in the devastated orchards of Belgium and northern France.

CLUBS AID FEEDING METHODS

Very Noticeable Changes Have Come About as Result of Demonstrations by Members.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the outstanding effects of the boys and girls' pig club work is the improvement in feeding methods employed by adults who have followed the lead of some club member. Even in the leading hog-producing states, where the quality of the hogs is high, very noticeable changes in feeding practices have come about as the result of the demonstrations made by club members.

In some instances it has been the use of a self-feeder for fattening hogs by a club member that was the means of causing the farmers of that community to adopt the same method. In other sections the use of a balanced ration by a club member caused the farmers in his neighborhood to realize that corn alone is a poor and expensive hog feed, or that grazing crops or good pastures are essential to economical gains on swine. In one county in Kentucky the pig-club demonstrations were the means of increasing the use of tankage, as a supplement to corn, from two tons to 75 tons per year in two years' time. In Alabama the pig-club agent obtained a pound of rape seed for each member who made a preliminary report on his or her pig. As a result of this small beginning one store in one county sold over 1,000 pounds of rape seed that fall and 1,400 pounds the following spring, and now that county is green with grazing crops for hogs. Since rape has made a place for itself in that county, the use of soy beans, cowpeas, velvet beans, etc., is now being pushed. Similar results, though perhaps less striking, have been obtained in other states. Sixty-one per cent of the members who completed their work last year report the use of grazing or pasture crops. The demonstrations by the boys are closely watched by the adults. The keeping of records showing the litter and final weights, the amounts and kinds of feeds used, the length of the feeding period, and the number of days the pigs were on grazing crops is interesting; the rate and cost of gains is definite information the adult has wanted to know. The club work then is a point of contact by means of which county agents may reach adults when the direct approach brings little or no response.

FEEDING ALFALFA TO HORSES

It Should Be Given Springly as Digestive Disorders Are Sure to Follow Liberal Supply.

Alfalfa hay is a good horse feed, common opinion to the contrary notwithstanding. The trouble is that usually too much of it is fed. It is very rich and can hardly be considered roughage. We might almost as well dump a bushel of bran into the manger as to cram it full of alfalfa. If horses have an abundance of it they eat too much and often have digestive disorders as a result. Alfalfa should be fed very sparingly to horses.

FEEDING CLOVER TO CATTLE

Sweepings and Trash Accumulated in Barn Loft Should Be Saved for Poultry Flock.

If one feeds clover to cattle, the sweepings and trash that accumulate in the barn loft ought to be saved. These sweepings are composed mostly of shattered leaves and seeds, and are better for poultry than the whole plant. One should have a burl handy and store these sweepings against future needs.

An Opportunity

To Help Serve.

The story of the accomplishments of the American Red Cross reads more like the invention of perverted imagination than actual fact, yet wonderful as they have been the half has not been told of the noble achievements of the consecrated men and women who are giving their lives to the amelioration of suffering and curing for those who are wounded, sick or afflicted. A noted general says it is the greatest moral force ever conceived and has done more to keep up the morale of the army thereby aiding it in winning battles, almost than munitions themselves. Hostilities have ceased, but not the need of the services of the Red Cross. We have two millions of soldiers in France and it will take many months to bring them home and get the country on a peace basis again. Besides the people of the torn and bleeding countries, devastated and demoralized by war, must be succored and sustained to meet the serious battle of life that confronts them. It takes money and vast sums of it to enable the workers to do full service and it is proposed in part to raise it by selling memberships in the organization at one dollar. Surely everyone with a drop of milk of human sympathy will want to aid by joining the organization and contributing his mite. Every body is asked to do so and it is confidently hoped that universal membership will be secured before the coming of the Yule Tide

Resolutions.

Hall of Lancaster Lodge, No. 104, F. and A. M., Lancaster, Ky. November 27th, 1918.

Whereas, the Death Angel has visited the home of our esteemed friend and Brother Mason, J. A. Wheelton, and, after a brief illness, summoned him from his family here on earth to that Heaven of Rest, from whence no traveler has ever returned, in the City not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens, where he has reserved the welcome plaudit: "Well done, good and faithful servant, thou hast been faithful over a few things, and I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the Kingdom of thy Lord." And,

Whereas, Almighty God, in His infinite wisdom, has seen fit to call Brother Wheelton from Labor to Refreshments in the bloom of his life and the pride of his manhood to join his loved ones gone before, and to dwell in the Councils of his Lord with those forever blest, now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That we as a lodge and individually extend to his family and his friends our sincere and heart-felt sympathy and assure them that we share with them, in the loss of a husband, a father and a friend, their troubles and their sorrow and bid them look, in their trying hours for consolation, to God who alone can give them comfort and strength; and

That a copy of these resolutions, after having been read in open lodge and spread upon the minute books, be sent to the Central Record for publication and a copy of the same be sent to the bereaved family.

Live in Today.

To today's duty, fight today's temptations, and do not weaken and distract yourself by looking forward to things which you cannot see, and cannot understand if you saw them.—Charles Kingsley.

Taking Our Share.

In life it is as it is in armies; there is a share of hardship for each one. "Each man shall bear his own burden." This is part of the discipline of life and it only makes confusion when any refuse to take their share. It is the wide distribution of the burden of society upon many different shoulders that makes the world's work go forward even as smoothly as it does. One man who will not take his share of hardship is an enemy of all willing workers.

ACROSS THE ROOF

By JACK LAWTON.

High up, at the back of the shabby old mansion, Dora began her career as an artist. And when the big room seemed unusually bare, Dora, with her happy sanguine spirit, congratulated herself upon its "sky-light." There were days, however, when the skylight failed to compensate.

When these reflections threatened to overcome her, Dora would arise briskly to light the rose shaded lamp which was her comfort.

"Silly," she would reproach herself, "glooming away, while those same young people are envying your apparent royal road to fame and fortune; you should be grateful, my dear, grateful as can be, that you can sell sketches enough to almost pay your lodging."

Dora did not mention payment of food. Sometimes Dora's food was not worth mentioning. Paper bag meals as a rule, when she finished her drawings; a dinner or two as celebration when the checks came in. And so, working feverishly, saving much hearting, saving altogether too much food, it was not strange that the maid from the apartment building one morning found herself ill, on the unaccounted food, which passed day times as a precious commodity.

Dora wondered wistfully concerning the problem of meals which she would be unable to prepare, then gave up the problem in a long and dreamless sleep. When again her gray eyes opened, shadows stretched across the room, while over the sloping roof beneath her window, came a stream of light from an opposite apartment.

Dora liked to look into the lighted rooms of this luxuriously appointed apartment building towering above the old shabby house. Almost it was like gazing upon the stage of a theater, gaily dressed women passing to and fro, each too busy about the long smoking room. One who came and went among them had the appearance of a distinguished actor.

Dora liked his fresh, his youthful face beneath its crown of strangely white hair.

Suddenly from the gravelled roof two north her window, a round and furry ball came leaping over the sill. Dora leaped forward, bending and with a cooing while a small white dog stood beside her, putting forth a friendly paw.

Delightfully the girl caught the animal in her arms.

"You dear little thing—" she murmured, then all at once Dora's arms lay still.

Anxiously the dog's moist nose sniffed inquiringly at her white coat, straightened arms, once or twice an eager tongue lapped at her anrogans as face then back over the sill and across the roof rushed the furry body.

The handsome man of the white hair had just settled himself for an evening smoke. Before lowering the window shade he had looked across the roof toward a window that was darkened, and when he looked back in his chair it was as with an air of disappointment.

"You missed!" he greeted the dog which scrambled panting to his knee, "playing truant again, eh?"

But Fluff was in no mood for petting. Her eyes she caught at the man's shoes, running a few steps from him she looked back apprehensively.

"What the deuce," frowned the man, it was evident that the dog was contenting him to follow.

Doctor Wilton decided to obey the animal's whim. His mother's raising of Fluff had made the little creature in some ways almost human.

The doctor followed through the French door to the apartment roof. He hesitated as Fluff bounded across that other roof, then whimsically continued the chase.

Disappearing over the sill of Dora's window the dog still unmistakably called to him from behind.

In that one shaft of light the doctor saw a girl's white upturned face—the girl's face—he caught his breath. How often he had seen the same sweet features framed in the old house window.

When the doctor lighted the gas, Dora raised slowly her dark fringed lids.

"Anything to eat today?" he asked, his fingers on her pulse.

It was too much trouble to reply so the young artist shook her head.

"Or yesterday?" asked the doctor, Dora smiled wistfully. "Yesterday is too far away to remember." Her eyes fell upon the now joyous Fluff.

"Oh," she murmured, "you came for your dog. He visits me sometimes. You don't mind?"

The man smiled down upon her. "He was even nicer," Dora considered, "when he snuffed." It was strange that she had learned his face so well. She was sure that she could sketch from memory his every line.

"I did not come for the dog," David Wilton said gently. "I came for you. I have a mother over in that building who has only Fluff upon which to lavish her care. It strikes me that you need some cure yourself. My mother will delight in giving it."

Suddenly stooping he lifted Dora's light weight in his arms. Before the roof door of the apartment building he paused.

"Of course, this is all a dream," the girl murmured, "because I have so often wished to be over here."

"Sometimes our dreams come true," said the man, and as he looked down upon her into his eyes came a light of love.

The Challenge Of The Past.

Most of us are good people. We admit it. If we weren't, we wouldn't admit it as often as we do. The trouble is to get other people to believe it.

When a man has had a first-class opportunity of preying by sinister practices and hasn't taken advantage of it he doesn't need to tout his horn. His record does that for him.

Your Uncle Sam is in the position of that gentleman. He has had many a chance of territorial expansion at the expense of weaker neighbors, and has turned it down. He isn't perfect, but his record is pretty good, and it will help him at the peace conference. Not many of the conferees will attend with us clear conscience.

The world is fortunate in not having to depend on guesswork in sizing up America's principles. It has the same advantage with regard to the British navy.

If England were to assure us that naval supremacy would be benevolently used we might be skeptical in default of proof. But England's maritime strength has been exercised with singular benevolence—notably in the suppression of slave traffic where no mercenary motive was even faintly perceptible. Just exactly who has been victimized by it is hard to say.

The meaning of that mysterious expression, "The freedom of the seas" has never been completely clarified. It doesn't need to be. We know by experience what free seas are. The seas have been free to everybody since Noah went sailing, and it is rather late to start an argument about it now.

If Uncle Sam contributes his vast naval power to the policing of the oceans no one will welcome him more heartily than John Bull. But Johnny is not likely to junk his dreadnaughts, and we should worry while Johnny pays for them.

It's All Very ## Different Now.

The council of National Defense has had a change of heart.

Not long ago it besought us to be tightwads. It berated the extravagant, and applauded the parsimonious. It told us to make a list of all things we liked, and to learn to live without them.

Christmas was to be like Lent; pushed forward on the calendar. It was to be a season of abstinence. We were not to buy candy for our best girls, or cigars for our best friends.

Now the Council tells us to go as far as we like. "Buy all the stick-pins, chocolate, stogies and cuff-links," it says. "Buy the kids the toys they holler for. Make the girls sick with marshmallows and meringues."

It is the command of Grosvenor B. Clarkson, acting director of the Council. He announces that pre-war conditions must be established as quickly as possible. It is essential to prosperity. Money must circulate freely, and the wheels of antebellum production must be set turning at top speed. And Clarkson is right.

Very well, folks of LANCASTER. The word of Grosvenor B. must be obeyed, and we have enough stores in town to make it easy. But be gentle to the toiling store-clerks, and don't crowd all their work into the last twelve hours.

Searchlight Rifle.

To enable hunters to accurately aim at game at night, the Birmingham has invented a searchlight to be mounted beneath the muzzle of a rifle, supplied with current from a storage battery in the stock of the weapon.

Not Really Sardines.

A large proportion of the so-called sardines taken along the Atlantic coast of this country and Canada are not true sardines but are the young of the herring and menhaden. They are prepared in about the same way as true European sardines, however, and it would puzzle some of the most experienced epicures to distinguish the spurious from the genuine.

Avoid Becoming Nagger.

If you find yourself inclined to become a nagger you had better apply for a little vacation and a change of scene. Absence from home and business is often the best cure for a blue fogged vision. A little contact with the world and the struggles of others often helps make home folks more reasonable—at least for a time. Forestall the malady by learning to see the better side of life. Practice kindly speech even if it hurts you.

W. H. BROWN, M. C. C. C. R. H. Tomlinson, Atty for Plffs.

"President Maker."

Thurloe Wood, an old-time political leader of New York, was called "the president maker." He was prominent in procuring the nomination of General W. H. Harrison in 1840, of General Taylor in 1848, and of General Scott in 1852, though the last named was not elected. In 1860 he supported Lincoln, though he had favored the nomination of William H. Seward of New York. He never held any public office.

Printing in China.

The Chinese follow the primitive way of printing from engraved wooden blocks. The matter to be printed is first written by means of ink, upon paper which is pasted face downward upon a block of a pear or plum tree. After the paper becomes dry it is rubbed until an inverted impression of the characters is left. Then the blank spaces are cut away and the block is turned over to the printer, who works by hand. He takes care to ink the characters equally and to avoid tearing the impression.
